

A Comprehensive Program

The early years of life are a period of dramatic growth and development. During this time, the foundation is often set for a child's future of school and life success.

Working with women to achieve wellness during their pregnancy, postpartum, and daily life; public health nurses hope to encourage a positive and fulfilling experience of motherhood. We encourage women to take care of themselves so that they can provide the nurturing and safe environment that influences a child's world.

The Maternal and Child Health Program promotes wellness through a continuum of comprehensive health care programs and education for women, young children, and families, including:

- ✓ Nursing care and home visits
- ✓ Regular and routine health care
- ✓ Healthy lifestyles to eliminate or minimize risk factors
- ✓ Creating a safe and nurturing environment
- ✓ Referrals and connections with support agencies and services

How to Enroll
